Inspection Of Red Vessels Continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy today continued the unique surveillance on the high seas that has convinced government officials that Russia indeed is removing ballistic missiles from Cuba.

The U.S. Destroyer Barry already lay alongside the Russian freighter Anosov, waiting for dawn to have a look at her cargo. And Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said that more Soviet vessels would be inspected soon.

The Barry reported by radio after intercepting the Asonov late Friday "we have arranged an inspection without boarding."

This apparently was the case with the five other Russia-bound vessels checked by the Navy thus far. The naval ships reported that three of the freighters apparently had missiles on their decks and that there were indications some Soviet technicians also were aboard.

Under the U.S. agreement with Russia, the Soviet vessels removed tarpaulins to reveal metal-encased objects on their decks. The Navy checked them visually and took pictures.

Sylvester told newsmen: "The PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— John Small, 45, 417 N. 53rd St., a bricklayer, was killed Friday afternoon when a wooden beam fell nine stories and struck him at an apartment house under construction in nearby Cynwyd.

Small died shortly after admission to Lankenau Hospital.

Good Evening!

Veterans Day tomorrow.

It's a day for honoring those serving the nation in war, a day dedicated to world peace. Fly the Stars and Stripes.

It seems a long way back to when November 11 was Armistice Day — the day ending that war which was to have ended all wars. We guess the world had never known such complete disillusionment.

Winds and rains whipped it up real well during the night.

Well, at least, atmosphere for the weekend cleared with cloudy and cooler weather the rest of the way.

Governor - elect Scranton in Florida for a vacation after his backbreaking campaign and we guess the fellow deserves it.

But, hey, do you have to win a governorship to qualify for a few weeks of loafing in that lovely land of sunshine? If so, we've already got some sneaky plans for 1966.

The amazing Slammin' Sam shoots a 65 at Buenos Aires yesterday to keep the U.S. ahead in the Canada Cup matches as the smoothie Palmer skids to a 72.

The old West Virginia hillbilly continues to improve with age.

Eagles meet the Green Bay Packers tomorrow and when you think of what's likely to happen, you're nearly inclined to advise the Philadelphia footballers to stay in bed.

Some people pick nice clean friends and others get only the friends that pick them clean.

The fellow who thinks evening means the same as night should study its effect on gowns.

Drive very carefully during the weekend, please.

Go to church tomorrow.

Students Haven't Forgotten

Hunted Youth Tip Proves False Alarm

A report that missing parolee Wayne Roach had been seen in Morrisville yesterday afternoon turned out to be a false alarm.

Bristol Borough police, who are investigating the murder of Carol Ann Dougherty, wish to interview the 19-year-old Trenton youth. Yesterday afternoon it was reported that he had been seen in Morrisville, driving a 1951 black Chevrolet, heading for Trenton.

Sgt. Michael Manto, Bristol police, and county detective Frank Jacob, were at Hamilton Township police headquarters when they heard the report on police radio. They had been checking up on another suspect in the case.

Looked Like Him

Manto and Jacob drove around Trenton, checking places that Roach is known to frequent, and they spotted the car. They gave chase, and stopped the car. There were two men inside — but neither of them was Roach, although one of them "looked just like him," according to Manto.

The false alarm brought to an end a week in which police in 15 states have been searching for Roach without success. He is still not listed as a suspect, however, but it is known that he was in Bristol on the day of the murder.

Yesterday another man, whose behavior in a church in Willow Grove had attracted attention, was also interviewed by police officers, but was released.

Most of the week has been

Simple Rites Held For Mrs. Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be buried today beside her husband at the ancestrial Roosevelt estate with simple religious rites and without a eulogy, according to her own request.

President and Mrs. Kennedy, former President Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Truman, and Vice President Lyndon Johnson will head the list of 200 invited mourners attending the private 2 p.m. EST funeral service at ivy-covered St. James Episcopal Church near Hyde Park village. The interment will be in the rose garden of the Roosevelt national historic site two miles south of the church at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Storm Casts Gloom

A severe east coast storm rolled over New York state today, setting a gloomy contrast with the bright spring day on which President Franklin D. Roosevelt was buried with military panoply on April 15, 1945.

The 78-year-old former First Lady died Wednesday at her New York home. During the final months of her two-and-a-half year battle against fatal anemia and then tuberculosis, she gave her family several directives for her

L. Southampton Theft

450 Silver Dollars Send Man To Jail

The theft of a potato chip can containing nearly 450 silver dollars last Oct. 7 proved to be the undoing of a Philadelphia man.

Walter Ulrich, 37 of Bustleton Pike, pleaded guilty to burglarizing the home of his sister, Mrs. Adolph Hammer in Lower Southampton last month, and received a sentence of from four months to 364 days in Bucks County Prison in addition to a $500 fine.

Description Given

Ulrich was picked up by Philadelphia detectives on Oct. 7, after Lower Southampton Police had sent out an alarm for a man fitting Ulrich's description. A neighbor of the Hammer's had reported to police that she had seen a man fitting Ulrich's description outside the Hammer home that day.

Detectives had little difficulty in tracing Ulrich. They received a tip that a man had been spending silver dollars in an American Legion Club located near Ulrich's home.

Police On Hand As Verdict Is Awaited In Death Of Baby

LIEGE, Belgium (UPI) — Riot police stood by with water cannon today to prevent any outbursts when the jury delivers its verdict in the trial of a mother, a doctor, and three other persons accused of murdering a baby born deformed by the drug thalidomide.

Feeling was high as the trial went into its final day, with the public appearing to favor acquittal for Mrs. Suzanne Van De Put, 25, her husband, Jean, 35, her sister, Monique, 26, her mother, Mrs. Fernande Coipel, 50 and their family doctor, Dr. Jacques Casters, 35.

All were charged with complicity in the murder of seven-day old Corinne Van De Put, who was born last May without arms apparently because her mother had taken the tranquilizer thalidomide during pregnancy.

The maximum sentence they could receive was death by guillotine; the minimum three years in prison. But death sentences are no longer given in Belgian courts.

Sentiment in the packed courtroom has been clearly on the side of the family and its doctor. There have been frequent outbursts of appplause and shouting, and Friday hundreds of spectators wept when Casters' attorney defended him.

"You have acted like a man and I am extremely proud that I may call myself your friend," attorney Jacques Henry said.

The defense, in summing up its case to the jury Friday, said its verdict — from which there is no appeal—would be the voice of the country.

Board Sends Delegates To BTTA Session

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Superintendent of Schools Robert P. Martin last night took steps to bring an end to the rift which has developed in recent weeks between the Bristol Township School Board and teachers within the district.

In letters delivered to Louis A. Alimenti, president of the school board, and Harold Tesno, president of the Bristol Township Teachers Association, Martin called upon the two groups to "resolve differences and reach understandings and appreciations of past actions."

Indications that Martin's urgent plea would be heeded were evident last night as three school board directors sat in the BTTA's five - hour executive committee meeting held in Woodrow Wilson High School.

While the school board has not as yet taken any action, it was learned that Alimenti, after receipt of Martin's letter, had directed John F. Hess, Charles J. McGrath and R. Philomen Stout to attend the BTTA meeting.

Act As Mediator

The BTTA, meanwhile, voted to accept Martin's proposal to act as mediator between representatives of the school board and the BTTA to resolve differences.

The breach between the two groups, kindling for some time, erupted last week after the board suspended an elementary school teacher in connection with his allegedly writing a "suggestive immoral" letter to a 13-year-old junior high school boy.

The BTTA had attacked the board's "mishandling" of the matter, claiming "utter disregard"

Rain Causes Local Crashes

Approximately 1.30 inches of rain fell late yesterday and early this morning causing a rash of automobile accidents on slick roads. There was little property damage cause by the storm, however.

It was the second weekend in a row in which at least an inch of rain had fallen. Last weekend, 1.13 inches fell causing the postponement of five Lower Bucks County scholastic football games.

Last night's storm started about 9:30 o'clock, and continued to about 6:15 a.m. today.

The weather bureau, however, reported no danger of floods.

Township and borough officials in the Lower Bucks area reported no heavy damage.

The weatherman said that there may be some showers today, but not heavy. A high in the mid 60's was forecast, with a low in the mid 40's.

Tomorrow's weather outlook was for mild weather.

Three youths were injured early this morning in one of four accidents which took place on rain-slicked roads in Bristol Township during the coastal storm which dumped 1.30 inches of rainfall on the area.

Both cars wound up in total wrecks in a collision at 12:20 a.m. on Route 413 at Old Rodgersh Road.

Bristol Township police reported that a car, driven by Paul Betz, 19, of 1315 State Road, Croydon, was making an illegal pass at the bend of Route 413 when his car went into a spin and hit an oncoming vehicle operated by Charles K. Boorman, 21, of 523 Washington Ave., Hulmeville.

Local Veterans Reminisce On Varied War Experiences

By DAN STUDEBAKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

For many Lower Bucks residents, Veterans Day, which is celebrated tomorrow, is not only a time for honoring America's service men and women, it is also a time of remembering their own experiences during the nation's wars.

Varied and fascinating experiences they were too, judging from the recollections of local veterans.

James Mitchell certainly has good reason to remember his most harrowing hours.

Mitchell

Mitchell, 27 Nearwood Lane, Levittown, a locomotive operator, is a Navy veteran of World War II. His most memorable experience came on May 29, 1944 while he was serving as a radar operator aboard the S.S. Block Island, an aircraft carrier.

Sunk By U-Boat

"We were sunk by a U-boat 800 miles off Casablanca. I was just going to bed at 9 p.m., two decks below the waterline. Suddenly there was an explosion and lockers in the sleeping quarters began turning over.

"Everyone rushed for the ladders. I grabbed my lifebelt and went to my general quarters station where I stayed until abandon ship orders were given. I slid down a line and was picked up 1½ hours later by a destroyer.

Clay

"I later was assigned to the new Block Island and served aboard it in the South Pacific." Henry Clay, commander of the American Legion Post 834 in Fallsington, who lives at 350 N. Pennsylvania Ave., in Morrisville, also served in the Navy between 1943-45.

Thrown To Deck

Crewman on the S. S. Southampton, an amphibious cargo transport, Clay was injured Oct. 30, 1944 when a blast from an exploding shell threw him to the deck. He received a broken arm, head and arm injuries and was hospitalized for nine months. Knocked unconscious he did not come to for about 12 hours. Clay reports that this incident occurred during a convoy run to England.

Pilgren

Another Navy veteran, John F. Pilgren, 27 Graceful Lane, Levittown, recalls most vividly the kamikazi attacks of Japanese pilots during the Iwo Jima and Okinawa invasions.

Then a radioman aboard a destroyer escort, he says: "We were never hit, but our ship was right in the middle. Ships around us were hit and sunk."

Combat Infantryman

Sickler

Sherman Sickler, 24 Quiet Road, Levittown, past commander and present finance officer of Legion Post 834, is now a Neshaminy School District teacher.

In 1951, however, he was a combat infantryman with a heavy mortar company in Korea. Although he was in the fighting zone for many months, his most memorable experience was of war orphans in Seoul, Korea.

"Our regiment put on a Christmas party for them in 1951.

for them in 1951. Most of us were young fathers. I was myself and seeing the Korean orphans and realizing they didn't have parents was a particularly moving experience for me."

Shell Explodes

Joseph Gallagher, a Bensalem police officer of 1176 Gravel Pike, Cornwells Heights, recalls Sept. 17, 1944 most vividly.

It was the day he was wounded as his 30th Division unit crossed the Moselle River under fire in France. A mortar shell exploded as Gallagher came ashore from his assault boat. Several men around him were killed. Gallagher was hit by shrapnel in the legs.

Gallagher

"There was a medic there who gave me first aid. Later in the day I was evacuated to a field hospital," he says. The division's assault was successful.

Nichols

Gene Nichols, 2604 Durham Road, Bristol, was in the Army from 1941 to 1945. He recalls the day he went to the front in Germany to take identification pictures of front line troops to fulfill a Geneva Convention requirement. One of the men he was assigned to photograph was a young infantry lieutenant. It was Anthony "Kit" Sabatini, who had graduated from Bristol High School with Nichols.

Still In Area

"I was glad I didn't have his job" Nichols says now. Sabatini still lives in the Bristol area.

Boltersdorf

Edward Boltersdorf, past commander and welfare chairman of Legion Post 834, is a construction worker who lives in Levittown. He served with the Air Force in Korea.

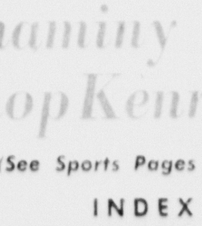
Says Boltersdorf: "I was attached to the signal corps for training. Then we went to Korea and put in practice what we had learned. Our job was to lay communications between the front and rear echelon and between air fields and headquarters. Thinking now of the Cuban crisis, the purpose of the Korean war has become a lot clearer. Many of the boys grumbled about it then."

McCullen

James W. McCullen, 58 Nestingrock Lane, Levittown, an electronics specialist, was with the Army Air Corps in the South Pacific during World War II. He served in a bomber crew.

In the Philippines when the war ended, he cannot forget a friend of his who had a mental breakdown two days after Japan's surrender was announced.

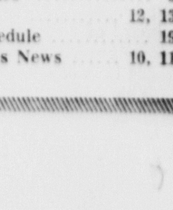
"As far as I know, he's still in a veteran's hospital. He was a gunnery technician. At that time the ground crews suffered more than the flight crews because they had to defend the landing strips against the enemy while the planes were in the air. My friend cracked up, started shooting all over the place. A flight surgeon got him with a baseball bat."



Worsman

West Worsman, 14 Taylor Drive, of Fallsington was in the Eighth Air Force flying in the European Theater out of England. He was a radio operator - gunner who racked up 33 missions.

Shot down over the English coast, he remembers well receiving the "caterpillar pin" awarded by parachute manufacturers to airmen whose lives were saved by using their product. A Trenton manufacturer sent Worsman's after he bailed out on April 22, 1944.



Kershaw

William Kershaw, 16 Pennsylvania Ave., Fairless Hills, was a military policeman in Berlin during the Korean war. On June 17, 1953, the East Germans rebelled against the Russians. Kershaw recalls going on patrol in the center of Berlin "Our task was to keep the West Berliners from causing any trouble. The Russians rolled

Bridge Crash Injures Man

A Burlington, N. J., man is in Lower Bucks County Hospital today, recovering from injuries he received yesterday afternoon when his car struck an abutment on the Bristol Township approach to the Burlington-Bristol Bridge.

Harry E. Petty, 40, of 419 Lawrence St., was admitted to the hospital at 3:45 p.m. with possible internal injuries and possible concussion. His condition today was described as "satisfactory."

Bristol Township police reported that Petty had suffered a heart attack last week and apparently "blacked out" yesterday, causing him to lose control

Philippine Sea

Brown

Ed Brown, 122 Winding Lane, Levittown, was a Navyman from 1943 to 1946. During his service he was most impressed by the second battle of the Philippine Sea.

"I was a bosun's mate on detached duty from a carrier," he recalls. "I operated a landing craft taking troops into the beach at Leyte. We made about five trips the first day. None of the boat crew was hit, although some of the soldiers were hit when they jumed put.

"The funniest thing that happened occurred after the cease-fire near Hong Kong. We were ferrying Japanese prisoners from Hong Kong at the time. Our LST was hit by a sampan. The sampan was manned by pirates so they didn't stop. Our ship sank and we bobbed around for about five hours before being picked up."

D-Day Action

Nolan

Laurence A. Nolan, 13 Oak Lane Ave., Fairless Hills, served in the infantry in the European Theater. Hitting the beach on D-day, he was in action 11 montns.

"One night, going to the front in a motorcade a half-track directly in front of our vehicle was struck by a bomb. I was knocked off the top of our half-track by the concussion, but I wasn't hurt. We were towing a 105-millimeter howitzer. My buddy and I pushed that howitzer off the road by ourselves. Normally it takes about six men."

Holland Man Arrested, Freed In $5,000 Bail

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Two suspects were arrested in Philadelphia and Newark, N.J., Friday on charges of transporting $49,546 in stolen securities from Pennsylvania to Florida last August.

The FBI identified one of them as Edward H. Wuensche, 32, Holland, Pa., who has been arrested three times previously on similar charges in the past three months. The other suspect was identified as Frank Basto, 25, a landscaper, of Newark.

Basto lives at 323 N. 10th St.

The two men, indicted by a Miami federal grand jury last month, were arrested on bench warrants issued three days ago in federal court there.

The FBI said the suspects used the securities, part of the loot from a $163,478 stock burglary at the law firm of Jones and Ulrich in Ravenna, Ohio, last March, as collateral on a $35,000 loan from a Miami bank.

Wuensche and Basto were held in $5,000 bail each for the grand jury at hearings before U.S.commissioners here and in newark, respectively.

Last Sept. 26, Wuensche was seized on a charge of transporting more than $5,000 in securities stolen in Ravenna from Philadelphia to Miami. He was arrested Aug. 16 on a warrant from Houston, Tex., charging him with transportation of $80,000 in stolen securities.

On Aug. 10, he was picked up on a New York warrant for allegedly transporting securities which were part of a $112,000 theft from Sturo Bros., a New York brokerage firm.

GETS ATTENDANCE AWARD

OXNARD, Calif. (UPI) — T. Emerson Tucker was singled out Friday at the regular meeting of the Oxnard Kiwanis Club for completing a 10-year record of perfect attendance.

More than 60 members cheered as club president C. F. Horn Horn asked Tucker to step forward to receive a 10-year pin.

Tucker missed Friday's meeting.

Man Arrested As Disorderly

Robert W. Rich, 42, of 7 Garden Lane, Greenbrook, Levittown, was arrested last night by Bristol Township police on charges of disorderly conduct.

Police said that a complaint was lodged by Rich's wife before Justice of the Peace James V. Parto, Tullytown, after a scuffle in front of his home at 7:45 p.m.

Police said Rich, who was under the influence of liquor, was placed in the Bristol Borough lockup.

Father Finnegan Slated To Talk

Father Finnegan will address the men and high school boys of the parish who are members of the society at the 8 a.m. breakfast after they have attended in a body the 7 a.m. Mass.

Falls Mgr. Raps Health Board Picking

Falls Township manager Robert Erwin fired an angry salvo today at the Bucks County Department of Health. The department this week urged the township to get busy on sewage installation along Route 1, from Oxford Valley Road to the Strick Trailer Co., Fairless Hills.

"I don't know why they pick on us," Erwin said. "They ought to go to Bristol, Bensalem, or Middletown township. Those townships have sewer problems much worse than Falls."

The department of health issued its appeal through Thomas Salvadore, supervising sanitarian for the Lower Bucks branch office. Salvadore blamed the township's delay in constructing sewer lines on lack of funds, but he said the township ought to find a way to raise the money.

Erwin scored Salvadore on that statement, "We just spent $2 million on sewers in the township," Erwin said. "We're just completing those projects. We can only do so much at a time. We have no funds yet but we intend to take care of everyone we can."

Erwin said about 95 per cent of the houses in the township are sewered. "We intend to finish, but it takes time."

The Kennedys flew to the funeral from Washington and will return immediately after the burial. They will lunch with the Roosevelt family at Mrs. Roosevelt's Val-Kill farm cottage.

In addition to the deceased's children and grandchildren, the mourners will include her close friend and political protege, Adlai E. Stevenson, heading a delegation from the U.S. mission to the United Nations where Mrs. Roosevelt had served as a delegate. She was given a moving tribute at the U.N. General Assembly Friday.

Stevenson will make a memorial address for Mrs. Roosevelt next Saturday at special services at New York's Cathedral of St. John the Divine, where 11,000 persons are expected to pay her tribute.

of the vehicle which struck the abutment head-on.

In three other accidents yesterday afternoon in Bristol Township, motorists were more fortunate as they escaped injury.

Two cars, driven by Joseph Auletta, 42, of 1000 Trenton Road, Fairless Hills, and Patricia McDermott, 23, of 428 Lakeside Drive, Levittown, collided at 1:45 p.m. at the intersection of the Newportville-Fallsington Road and the Levittown Parkway. Police estimated damage to both cars at $450.

Ot 3:20 p.m., a car operated by Edward Horan, 44, of 200 Trenton Road, Fairless Hills, collided with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Virda Cobb, 41, of 84 Ruby Lane, Red Cedar Hill, Levittown, in front of the parking lot at the Countryside Tavern on Newportville Road. Damage to Mrs. Cobb's car was estimated at $75.

Two vehicles were slightly damaged in a mishap at 5 p.m. on the parking lot of the Rohm and Haas Co. A truck, driven by Edward Kemczak, 55, of Old York and Neck Roads, Burlington Township, N.J., collided with a car driven by Kenneth Lewis, 20, of 225 Cleveland St., Bristol.

Court Awards $49,766 To Local Woman

Bucks County Civil Court juries this week returned verdicts of $49,766 in favor of an Eddington woman and $1,650 in favor of a Warminster man.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite concluded a trial growing out of eminent domain proceedings in which a jury awarded a verdict of $49,766.72 to Kathleen D. Hughes, owner of the Eddington Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., against the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The suit grew out of condemnation proceedings launched by the State Highway Department for the Delaware Expressway. The plumbing and heating company was located in a building located at Street Road and Bristol Pike in Bensalem Township. The plumbing firm rented the premises from Kathleen D. Hughes July 15, 1959.

Warminster Man

Judge Lawrence A. Monroe presided at a trial when a jury returned a verdict of $1,650 in favor of Anthony Imperial, 380 Nemoral St., Warminster, who was trying to collect $2,440 from Michael and Louise Imperial, 376 Nemoral St., Warminster.

The jury specified in its verdict that the sum of $1,650 is directed against Michael Imperial only. Anthony Imperial, in a statement of claim in the Bucks County Court of Common Pleas, said he was asked to build a house and garage in March, 1952, for Michael and Louise Imperial. He claimed the sum of $2,440. He claimed that Michael had agreed verbally to help in the construction of the house and garage but later "failed and refused" to keep his word.

Lindsay Crosby Sued For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Lindsay Crosby, 26, son of Bing Crosby, was sued for divorce Friday by his wife, Barbara, who charged extreme cruelty.

The 23-year-old Mrs. Crosby, a former Las Vegas, Nev., showgirl asked for "reasonable alimony and child support" for herself and their child, David, 2. She claimed her husband has assets of more than $1 million.

Both were beset with illness this year. Mrs. Crosby went into a coma and was hospitalized in February. She was pregnant at the time and suffered a miscarriage a short time later.

Lindsay suffered a nervous breakdown in July when he was in Juarez, Mexico, appearing with his brothers, Dennis and Philip, in their nightclub act. Lindsay gave up the act and went to work for his father's television production company.

was shown to Bristol Township teachers.

Thursday night, some 350 teachers walked out of the township school board meeting in protest of the public reading of this six-page letter by an older brother of the boy to whom the letter was written.

Last night, the BTTA executive committee announced that it "continues to vehemently protest" the manner in which the incident was handled from the beginning.

"Rights To Privacy"

Tesno said that the merits of the case had nothing to do with the BGTTA's action. "The right to privacy of both parties have been violated," he stated," and the basic principle of American democratic law, that a person is innocent until proven guilty, has been denied. This action has automatically prejudiced the case in the eyes of the public."

Despite its continuing protest of the school board, Tesno said that the BTTA, whose membership includes 420 of the township's 483 teachers, administrators and supervisors, "is ready and willing to meet with the school board in an effort to restore the school system to a position of respect."

Martin, the only representative of both the school board and the BTTA, wrote Alimenti and Tesno that "the situation of strife which exists at this time is not hopeless if an intelligent approach prevails.

"I seek your cooperation," his letter continued, "because I want to maintain our educational system on the same high plane that it has enjoyed."

Challenging Question

Speaking before the executive committee meeting last night, Martin hurled a challenging question at the BTTA: "Do you want the board to take the leadership? Or do you want to show the board you can teach the leaders of 1980?"

The BTTA executive committee last night voiced its objection to the "premature release to news agencies information concerning the allegedy immoral letter.

"This action was taken by an individual board member without board or administrative approval," Tesno declared.

News of the letter - writing was released on Oct. 26 by Alimenti after Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel DiQuattro of 1311 Bath Road told the board president of what had taken place.

Alimenti, at that time, said he discussed the matter with Bristol Township Police Chief John R. Stewart but received "negative reaction" from the chief. Stewart said there had been "A misunderstanding along the line." The chief later conducted an investigation which was concluded earlier this week.

Special Meeting

Martin and most of the school board members were out of town at the time Alimenti disclosed the immoral letter incident. He called a special meeting of the board for Oct. 29, at which time the teacher was suspended by the board, pending completion of the investigation.

The school board two nights ago directed its solicitor, Edwin N. Popkin to set a hearing date at which time the board will consider possible dismissal of the teacher.

The teacher, James M. Foley, 52, of 3516 Llanberis Ave., Bristol Township, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Joseph M. Haines on a charge of "tending to corrupt the morals of a minor."

The complaint had been filed last Monday night by the parents of the boy, James DiQuattro, a student at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School.

Foley, sixth grade teacher at Lafayette School and a veteran of 19 years in the school district, was released on $500 bail to await a further hearing.

The letter Foley allegedly wrote to DiQuattro was read aloud by the boy's older brother, Robert, at Thursday night's stormy school board meeting in Benjamin Franklin Junior High School. Three members of the board—Stout, Newton H. Parkes and George W. Fischer—voted against reading the letter.

The BTTA, in its statement last night, also attacked the "continuing action of the majority of the board in permitting the letter to be read in public." Tesno said such action "caused irreparable damage to the reputation of the teacher, the pupil and the image of the school system in Bristol Township."

Thanks Expressed

The association felt that "corrective action" should have been taken at Thursday night's meeting. The BTTA did express its thanks publicly to the three members who voted against the reading of the letter.

"We regret that the majority of the board did not see the best interests of the school district with the same judgment as the minority," Tesno stated.

The BTTA, in charting what it hopes will be a permanent and workable relationship with the school board, expressed hope that "this and future cases would be handled through the building principal, the superintendent and joint board action."

Tesno concluded by saying that "if this case had been properly handled, the association would not have entered the case, unless requested by the member involved, depending upon the nature of the accusation."

Donald M. McDade, principal of the Ralph Waldo Emerson Elementary School, last night pledged the support of all 14 principals in the township "to aid the education of our 12,000 students so we can achieve our goal to make Bristol Township - Delhaas Joint School District one of the best in the United States. We know we have the best in Pennsylvania," he declared as he spoke on behalf of the school district administration.

Attends Session

Harold Koch, past president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, came down from Harrisburg to attend last night's BTTA executive committee meeting.

He told the 23-member group that "Bristol Township has one of the finest school systems in the country."

The PSEA official urged the BTTA to "go along" with Martin's proposal. "Keep your sights on long-range goals," he said, "and proceed with due process of law in all that you do."

Koch told the BTTA that it had "jumped into something too fast." However, he said that the school board was "unqualifiedly wrong. That letter should not have been released," he declared.

The BTTA will hold a general meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock in Woodrow Wilson High School, at which time the executive committee will seek the approval and cooperation of all its members in working with Martin and the school board.

But despite the inspection at sea and Kuznetsov's assurances, the State Department declared once again that the United States still will insist on an international check inside Cuba to make certain all offensive weapons have been removed — including Soviet II.28 bombers.

Two Given Jail Terms

Two Lower Bucks men received prison sentences in Bucks County Court yesterday for committing a series of burglaries in Bristol Township during September.

Bernard Drenkhahn, 21, of Second Ave., Croydon, was sentenced to the state Correctional Institute from one to three years by Judge John P. Fullam.

Levi Dunlap, 22, Keystone Hotel, Bristol, received six months to a year in Bucks County prison.

The pair admitted to burglarizing Adam's, Bozzo's, and the 2820 bars, the Bristol Kartway and a laundromat.

Drenkhahn, who had just gotten out of prison last April on a similar charge, said that he stole to support his wife and child. His father-in-law, for whom he worked, had not paid Drenkhahn for a period of a month, the young man said, and had instead given the family a meager supply of food.

Judge Fullam said that he could not show clemency to the young man because he had been a frequent parole violater.
